The FDR Memorial Legacy Committee is a citizen-led organization with the mission to promote education about the FDR Memorial in Washington, DC, improve inclusion and accessibility so all visitors can experience the Memorial, and preserve the Memorial for future generations. The organization, borne out of the successful disability-led campaign in the 1990s for disability representation at the Memorial, is committed to sharing the diverse perspectives of the Roosevelt era and that era's legacy today.

Education, Inclusion, and Preservation are the focus of our work.

Throughout 2021, our programming successfully fulfilled each piece of our mission delivering multiple events both virtually and in person, webinars, educational opportunities, a first-of-its-kind archive, a report on accessibility challenges at the FDR Memorial, and much more. On the next few pages, you will see highlights of these activities. We are very proud of our accomplishments and want to thank each of you for your support.

With the year coming to a close, we are busy planning for an epic 2022. Next year marks the 25th anniversary of the FDR Memorial. We have lots in store and can't wait to share the details with you.

As you consider your year-end giving, we ask that you please include the FDR Memorial Legacy Committee on your list!

Sincerely,
Mary E. Dolan
Co-Founder and Executive Director

FDR Wheelchair Statue Campaign Archive Release

In January 2021, as part of the DC Community Heritage Project with support from HumanitiesDC, we proudly unveiled the first-of-its-kind archive chronicling the history of the fight for disability representation at the FDR Memorial which was led by people with disabilities from 1995-2001. The archive is filled with individual perspectives, stories, and written documentation of this hard-fought campaign for inclusion.

Check it out here:

Representation & Leadership Webinar

In January 2021, the Institute of Politics, Policy, and History at the University of the District of Columbia and the FDR Memorial Legacy Committee hosted the virtual panel discussion titled "Representation and Leadership: FDR and the FDR Memorial," hosted by former DC Mayor Sharon Pratt. Speakers included retired Senator Tom Harkin, the Chief Architect of the Americans with Disabilities Act, and Christopher Roosevelt, attorney, conservationist, and grandson of FDR.

Enjoy this recording of the event!

An Online Talk with Historian & Author John Sears

In April 2021, historian and author John F. Sears joined us for an online talk titled “Eleanor Roosevelt and the Drafting of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.” Sears shared his wealth of knowledge about Eleanor Roosevelt, her impact, and her era. If you think you know Eleanor, watch this talk and we promise you’ll learn something new!

Released the Accessibility at the FDR Memorial Report

In May, we had one of our biggest successes of the year: the release of a report on accessibility challenges at the FDR Memorial. The report, completed by Dr. Cheryl Fogle-Hatch, founder of MuseumSenses, outlined the deficiencies ranging from the difficulties with accessing information for blind and low vision visitors to safety concerns with removable stanchions around the once beautiful fountains. The Washington Post ran an article about the importance of the accessibility report. Soon after, the FDR Memorial’s beautiful fountains were back in working order and an audio tour was added!

Hosted First Teacher Professional Development

In July, we conducted the first-ever teacher professional development workshop in partnership with the University of the District of Columbia. Teachers expanded their knowledge of the disability rights movement, FDR and his disability, and learned new perspectives in teaching about FDR, his era, and the intersection of civil rights and disability rights. We can’t wait to do it again next year!

Thank You Teachers!

Our first teacher professional development was a huge success, thanks to our incredible speakers and our exceptional participants. We look forward to next year!

“What a wonderful three days of Learning, Sharing, Fellowship, and Getting to know one another. To all unable to attend, you truly missed out on a ‘Professional Development (PD) Treat!’ Thank you for three days of Professional Development Awesomeness.

The Educator was Educated!”

Eleanor Roosevelt Birthday Party

In October, we hosted a celebration to commemorate Eleanor Roosevelt's birthday with a wreath-laying ceremony at the FDR Memorial. Guests included Dr. Kirk Adams, President and CEO of the American Foundation for the Blind and U.S. Senator (Ret) Tom Harkin. In a nod to Eleanor's role as Honorary President of the Girls Scouts of America, we were proud to have the involvement of local Girl Scouts from Washington, DC. Such a fun day!

25th Anniversary of the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial

Wednesday, May 11, 2022

Washington, D.C.

Co-Chairs: Senator Tom Harkin (Retired) and James Roosevelt, Jr. Esq.

This special event will be hosted by Jonathan Capehart, opinion writer, The Washington Post, and anchor, "The Sunday Show with Jonathan Capehart" on MSNBC. The event will celebrate this historic and iconic memorial and provide an opportunity to engage in meaningful discussions around the memorial, its impact, and what more we can do to ensure that it is a lasting dedication, not only to President Roosevelt, but to millions of Americans and persons with disabilities who visit the memorial each year.

Launch the DC Disability Rights Heroes Project

The FDR Memorial Legacy Committee has received the 2021 Humanities Mini-Vision Partnership Grant in the amount of $15,000. The grant will allow the FDR Committee to launch the DC Disability Rights Heroes Project, funded by the HumanitiesDC, to provide lesson plans to preserve and promote the heroic stories of disabled leaders who fought to add the life-sized, free-standing statue of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in a wheelchair to the FDR Memorial. The FDR wheelchair statue story provides a significant opportunity for teachers and students to learn about disability history. The lesson plans will feature rich stories in which students can relate, see themselves, and also project their hopes onto their future selves.

Happy Birthday Franklin!

January 30, 2022 marks FDR's 140th Birthday. The FDR Committee will be celebrating and honoring his legacy with a wreath-laying at the Memorial with students from Washington, DC's Browne Education Campus. More details to come, but we encourage you to join us.

Keep in Touch!

We are planning for 2022 to be an outstanding year as we commemorate the 25th Anniversary of the FDR Memorial in Washington, DC. Please continue to follow our social media channels and visit our website as events are posted.
